

Hold the date!

We are pleased to announce that IAGLR and the European Large Lakes Symposium will co-sponsor an international conference entitled “Big Lakes, Small World” during the week of September 23-28, 2018 at Lake Geneva (Evian, France). The meeting will be the first IAGLR meeting held outside North America, and in conjunction with the 5th European Large Lakes Symposium.

Please consider joining us as we exchange ideas and information on all aspects of global, large-lake limnology to highlight the diversity and commonalities across the world's great lakes.

Information about the meeting, including deadlines for abstract submission and registration will periodically be updated on the IAGLR website, but please hold the date for now!

We look forward to hosting this prestigious event and hope to see you in Evian.

The organizing committee